

Dustin Swayne

Administrator, Workforce Services Division

Dustin Swayne started his career with the Tennessee Department of Labor and Workforce Development in April of 2005 as an Interviewer with the Employment Security Division. During this time he supervised several Employment Security programs including: Re-Employment Services Assessment (RESA), Career Coaches (3 Mobile Career Centers), Resource Sharing Agreements, and Grant Writing.

He received his Bachelor of Science degree in Political Science from Murray State University in May of 2003. He received his Law degree from the Nashville School of Law in May of 2008 and was admitted to the Tennessee State Bar on October of the same year.